3 EP 0 702 273 A2 4 finisher/cutter (F/S) having a series of cutter bins, as is well known. Referring now to Figure 2, the electrographic reproduction apparatus of Figure 1 incorporating the present invention will be described in greater detail. As shown, reproduction apparatus 1 includes a photoconductive web 5 that is trained about six transport rollers 10, 11, 12, 13, 14 and 15, thereby forming an endless or continuous web. Roller 10 is coupled to a drive motor M in a conventional manner. Motor M is connected to a source of potential V when a switch SW is closed by a logic and control unit (LCU) 31. When the switch SW is closed, the roller 10 is driven by the motor M and moves the web 5 in clockwise direction as indicated by arrow A. This movement causes successive image areas of web 5 to sequentially pass a series of work stations of the apparatus 1. These workstations include: a charging station 17, 17a at which the photoconductive surface 9 of the web 5 is sensitized by applying to such surface a uniform electrostatic charge of a predetermined voltage; an exposure station 18 at which a light image of a document sheet 8, supported on transparent platen 2, is projected by mirrors 6, 6 and lens 7 onto the photoconductive surface 9 of the web 5 to produce a latent electrostatic image of the document sheet. Also included are a magnetic brush development station 19 at which the latent image is developed with developer which may consist of iron carrier particles and electroscopic toner particles with an able "soft" buttons and areas for providing operator input to the reproduction apparatus. Touchscreens are well known and include resistive, acoustic, and infrared type input technologies. The operator selectable set of hard buttons on the left include, START, JOB INTERRUPT, and STOP buttons. In the middle are numerical buttons 0-9 to set the number of copies or sets to be copied. A " and CE (clear entry) buttons are also included. On the right are the following hard buttons: JOB LEVEL, PAGE LEVEL, MEMORY, PROOF, LANGUAGE, SUMMARY, INFORMATION and RESET. The INFORMATION (I) button accesses an information system (stored in memory in LCU 31) which provides detailed information about reproduction apparatus 1 including features selectable by the operator and messages which are displayed on touchscreen display 104. As shown in Figure 3, the screen illustrated on the touchscreen display is referred to as the "standard feature" screen as it displays various features that a casual user of the apparatus 1 would want when first approaching the apparatus for an average reproduction run. The screen includes a message display area 105, a copies or sets requested display area 105, a copies or sets completed display area 107, and a "soft" button area 108. The "soft" button area includes selectable features with plural displayed options for each feature. 1 EP 0 702 273 A2 2 Description The present invention relates, in general, to reproduction apparatus, and relates, more specifically, to electrographic reproduction apparatus having multiple means for feature selection or adjustment. Electrographic reproduction apparatus are provided with an operator control panel for allowing an operator to program the apparatus for a reproduction run. In its simplest form, the control panel includes several dedicated (hard) buttons and switches for selecting features for a reproduction run, as well as visual indicators for informing the operator which features were selected. The operator control panel can also have a display for displaying messages. The control panel also includes keys and buttons for sharing the display to indicate selected options. (See, for example, US-A-5,113,222.) The display may also include a touchscreen overlay having "soft buttons" for providing operator input to the reproduction apparatus. (See, for example, US-A-5,045,880; US-A-5,061,958; US-A-5,13,220; US-A-5,049,831; and US-A-5,010,351.) A problem arises when all of the selections or adjustments for a particular feature cannot be displayed as touch areas within the optimal area range. In such a case, there is not enough room on the screen to display all selections (or adjustments) as touch buttons. Yet there is a need to maintain a consistent interface with the reproduction apparatus where the user selects a feature by touching that feature's soft button. Although the latter patents disclosing a touch screen user interface include both soft button input and feature scrolling with select button input, there is no disclosure of combining the two types of user interface for alternate selection of the same feature. According to the present invention, there is provided a solution to the problems of the prior art by providing multiple means for selecting a feature in a touch screen user input to a reproduction apparatus. According to a feature of the present invention, there is provided in a reproduction apparatus having a plurality of selectable features for carrying out a reproduction run, an operator control panel for providing operator interface for controlling said reproduction apparatus comprising: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• a display for displaying at least one selectable feature for a reproduction run with plural displayed options for said at least one selectable feature;• a touchscreen overlaying said at least one selectable feature and having operator actuatable touch areas overlaying said plural displayed options for providing operator input to said reproduction apparatus to select one of said feature options; and• a scroll touch button on said touchscreen for scrolling a visual indicator to highlight one of the feature options for said at least one selectable feature;• wherein a feature option of said at least one selectable feature can be selected either by touching said touch area associated therewith or by actuating said scroll button to select said feature option. Figure 1 is a front perspective view of an electrographic reproduction apparatus for incorporating the present invention. Figure 2 is a schematic diagram of the electrographic reproduction apparatus of Figure 1. Figure 3 is a diagrammatic view of an operator control panel, including a display with a touchscreen. Figures 4-7 are respective screens useful in explaining the present invention. Because electrographic reproduction apparatus are well-known, the present description will be directed, in particular, to elements forming part of or cooperating more directly with the present invention. Apparatus not specifically shown or described herein are selectable from those known in the prior art. Particular reference is made to US-A-4,740,918 and US-A-5,113,222, the contents of which are incorporated herein by reference. With reference now to Figure 1, there is shown an electrographic reproduction apparatus 1 having a recirculating document feeder 50 that includes a tray portion for accepting a multi-sheet document original for reproduction. The apparatus 1 includes an operator control panel (OCP) which, as will be described, includes buttons and prompting displays for facilitating a job setup, that is, the input of an instruction set to the apparatus logic and control unit (LCU) to enable it to control a series of operations resulting in a desired copy output representing a reproduction of the document originals. Copies may be produced on receiver sheets stored in either or both drawers holding trays 23a and 23b. The copy output from the apparatus is stored either in an exit tray (ET) or
